Report on Interactive Session on Paid Internship Opportunities at Al-Ameen College of Law, Bangalore

Date: 25th July 2022

Organized by: Al-Ameen College of Law, Bangalore

Conducted by: Principal

On the 25th of July 2022, Al-Ameen College of Law in Bangalore organized an interactive session aimed at providing students with insights into the various opportunities available for paid internships. The session was conducted by the principal and proved to be a valuable initiative for the students.

The session began with a warm welcome by the Vice Principal Mrs. Yasmeen Tabassum, emphasizing the importance of internships in shaping the future careers of law students. The principal highlighted that internships provide students with practical experience and exposure to the real legal world.

The Principal elaborated on the significance of internships in enhancing practical legal skills, building networks, and gaining insights into different legal domains. The session emphasized that internships are not only about learning but also about contributing to the legal profession.

The session covered a wide array of internship opportunities available, including those within law firms, corporate legal departments, non-governmental organizations, and government bodies. The Principal encouraged students to explore diverse sectors to gain a well-rounded experience.

A significant focus of the session was on paid internships. The Principal stressed the importance of financial sustainability during internships and how paid internships can alleviate some financial burdens for students. Strategies for finding paid internships were discussed.

Practical advice was given on the application process for internships, including preparing resumes, cover letters, and the importance of a professional online presence. The session also touched upon interview skills and etiquette.

The Principal opened the floor for questions, allowing students to seek clarifications and guidance on specific concerns related to internships

Cybersecurity and Social Media:

- Social media connects us with our friends and families, associates, etc. What we put upon it may end up getting circulated.
 - Despite the security provisions made by various social media platforms, people who want to breach our social handles often find a way to do the same.
 - Losing our private and vital information to someone who is a stranger can prove to be as damaging as losing our bank account details, and that is why it is important to fully understand cybersecurity for social media.
 - Social media has become an integral part of our lives. We use it to keep in touch with our friends and family, share photos and videos of all those things happening in our lives.
 - It has replaced phone calls, messages, emails, etc. for a lot of us. But, as with anything else online, all of us need to be aware of the risks.
 - The prevalence of social media platforms and the anonymity of its users have paved a way for hackers and other people who want to get unauthorized access to our private accounts, commit cyber-crimes.
 - The internet provides us access to everything but it is important to remember that it also provides everyone access to us.
- * Therefore, it is necessary to protect oneself from the malicious activities that happen on the web.

Case Studies:

- Pune Citibank Emphasis Call Centre Fraud:

Some ex-employees of BPO arm of Emphasis Ltd Msource defrauded US Customers of Citibank to the tune of Rs 1.5 crores. It was one of those cyber crime cases that raised concerns of many kinds including the role of "Data Protection". The crime was obviously committed using "Unauthorized Access" to the "Electronic Account Space" of the customers. It is therefore firmly within the domain of "Cyber Crimes".

ITA-2000 is versatile enough to accommodate the aspects of crime not covered by ITA-2000 but covered by other statutes since any IPC offence committed with the use of "Electronic Documents" can be considered as a crime with the use of a "Written Documents". "Cheating", "Conspiracy", "Breach of Trust", etc. are therefore applicable in the above case in addition to the section in ITA-2000.

Under ITA-2000 the offence is recognized both under Section 66 and Section 43. Accordingly, the persons involved are liable for imprisonment and fine as well as a liability to pay damages to the victims to the maximum extent of Rs 1 crore per victim, for which the "Adjudication Process" can be invoked

- The Bank NSP Case:

One of the leading cybercrime cases is the Bank NSP case is the one where a management trainee of the bank was engaged to be married. The couple exchanged many emails using the company computers. After some time the two broke up and the girl created fraudulent email ids such as "Indian bar associations" and sent emails to the boy's foreign clients. She used the bank's computer to do this. The boy's company lost a large number of clients and took the bank to court. The bank was held liable for the emails sent using the bank's system.

- Andhra Pradesh Tax Case:

Dubious tactics of a prominent businessman, from Andhra Pradesh, were exposed after officials of the department got hold of computers, used by the accused in one of the many cyber fraud cases in India. The owner of a plastics firm was arrested and Rs 22 crore cash, was recovered from his house by sleuths of the Vigilance Department. They sought an explanation from him regarding the unaccounted cash within 10 days.

The accused submitted 6,000 vouchers, to prove the legitimacy of trade and thought his offence would go undetected but after careful scrutiny of vouchers and contents of his computers, it was revealed that all of them were made after the raids were conducted. It was later revealed that the accused was running five businesses under the guise of one company and used fake and
